BULLETIN
Mrs. Helen Johnson, 45, was killed instantly and her mother, Mrs. Margaret Duda, 70, both of Mansfield, were injured when a Big Four passenger train struck their automobile at a grade crossing in Shiloh shortly after 1 p. m. today. Witnesses said the automobile was driven across the tracks into the path of the passenger train after the crossing had been cleared the crossing. Mrs. Johnson had lived at 53 Myers avenue with her mother but had moved to Shiloh this morning. She was formerly employed at the J. C. Penney company here.

Two persons met violent deaths and 13 others were injured in the Mansfield area over the week-end in a series of highway crashes and a drowning. Four are still in the hospital today.

The dead are:
Mrs. Abel Ledger, 23, Canton, who died in General hospital this morning from injuries sustained in an automobile collision at Mifflin yesterday.

Charles LeRoy Showers, 18, of near Mt. Gilead, who drowned in the Olenetangy river near his home yesterday.

Mrs. Ledger, attaches at the hospital said, died at 4 a. m. today. She had internal injuries and fractured ribs.

State highway patrolmen said she was injured when an automobile driven by her husband was struck head-on by another car at 4 p. m. Sunday just west of Mifflin in Ashland county.

Officers said the Ledger car was struck by a machine driven by Mary Alice Arnold, 37, of Columbus, Ga., when the latter machine skidded on the wet pavement.

Young Showers body was found at 7:30 p. m. yesterday in the Olenetangy river near route 6 in Marion county by William Krautter, a farmer and neighbor.

The boy had gone to the river with his father, James, a brother-in-law, Paul George, 26, and his (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Tax Books Open Today, Usual Rush To Pay Lacking

Richland county's real estate tax books opened today, but the usual first-day rush to pay was missing.

It was the quietest opening day in recent years. Deputy Treasurer Charles Payne said, with only a few property owners visiting the treasurer's office during the morning.

Payne attributed the lack of interest to the pre-mature acceptance of tax payments during the past three weeks which produced $68,537 in tax receipts before the books were opened officially.

Early payments were permitted because the collection period began late and for the convenience of taxpayers who will be out of the county during the regular collection period.

Two Mansfield women were the "early birds" today, paying their taxes for the half year period as soon as the treasurer's office opened this morning. They were Iva M. Ohler, R. D. 4, and Margaret Kuhn, West Fourth street.

Before the collection ends Aug. 20, Treasurer John E. Kolb hopes to collect more than $600,000 in real estate and special assessment taxes.

Willkie Gets Ready to Run For President

Says He Hopes Roosevelt Gets Dem Nomination, Wants to Meet Him.

(By United Press)
NEW YORK—Wendell L. Willkie, Republican candidate for president, told an overflowing press conference today that he hoped President Roosevelt would be re-nominated this month in Chicago "because I'd like to meet him."

"I will accept the nomination in Elwood, Ind., but I haven't fixed the date yet," Willkie told questioners. "My acceptance speech will state my views and discuss and interpret the platform."

A reporter broke in to remind Willkie that from now until Sept. 1 the White House would be closed to visitors for cleaning and renovating.

"Have you any suggestions?" the candidate was asked.

"I think that is a very courteous thing to do for your successor," he replied.

The Republican nominee was well rested and clear-eyed after a week-end aboard the yacht of Roy W. Howard of the Scripps-Howard newspapers, aboard which he left Philadelphia Saturday, and arrived in New York today.

"I just slept," he said, "and I want some more sleep to make up for what I lost in Philadelphia."

Willkie will confer today at lunch with Gov. Harold E. Stassen, Minnesota, who was his convention floor manager, and they will discuss campaign plans and probably the selection of a campaign manager and a chairman of the Republican national committee.

Willkie said he could not indicate at this time whether Chairman John D. M. Hamilton, who served since 1936, would be retained and some of his answers indicated that he might have a national chairman and a campaign manager acting separately during the campaign.

"I'll tell you something dramatic," Willkie remarked, as he hurried into the press conference room and gestured across Nassau street, which lay 21 floors below.

"There is the building where President Roosevelt and his law partner, Basil O'Connor, had offices when I came to New York. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 7)

TO STAY CHILLY

Mercury Down to 49 and City Gets Its Daily Ducking.

The weatherman held little promise today for a warm and sunny Fourth as Mansfielders shivered in the coolest weather the city has had on July 1 in several years.

The mercury dropped to a chilly 49 degrees Sunday and Monday mornings, and heaters were turned on in a number of homes.

The city also got its daily ducking Sunday when rainfall measured .62 of an inch. The weatherman promised clear skies tonight and Tuesday, but he said there wasn't much chance for warmer weather. It was 67 at noon today.

In Cleveland the mercury registered 53 degrees today, the chilliest July 1 in 15 years.

The Rocky mountain states sweltered in temperatures up to 100 degrees.

Explosive Balkans Draw Closer to Conflict

The various moves charted on the map above have made the situation in the Balkans more intense than ever. Hungary today amassed a full army corps on the Rumanian border, said the "collapse of Rumania appeared imminent." Germany and Italy were said to be supporting Hungary, which is expected to make territorial demands of its own on Rumania.

Roosevelt Sends Special Message to Congress, Urges All Share Defense Burden.

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON—(P)—The navy today ordered construction of 45 more warships, to cost a total of approximately $500,000,000. The largest single contract-letting in navy department history, the construction was assigned by Lewis Compton, acting secretary, after the White House announced that President Roosevelt had signed legislation to speed up the defense program.

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt today asked congress to impose a steeply graduated tax on excess profits to prevent creation of millionaires from this nation's effort to strengthen its national defense.

In a brief special message, Mr. Roosevelt asked congress to apply the tax to all individuals and corporate organizations without discrimination.

He left to the discretion of congress the determination of rates and the manner of imposition, asserting only that congress must see that "a few do not gain from the sacrifices of the many."

BEN TURPIN DIES

Famous Cross-Eyed Screen Comedian Was 63.

HOLLYWOOD—(P)—Ben Turpin, old-time screen star famous for his crossed eyes, died today. He was 63 years old.

A native of New Orleans, Turpin was one of the screen's first slapstick comedians. He made scores of one and two-reelers in the old days. He topped his career with "Swing High" in 1930.

Break Ground For Construction of New B. & O. Station

Ground was broken this morning for the construction of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad's new $10,500 passenger depot just west of the present structure on North Mulberry street.

H. H. Harsh, superintendent of the Newark division, was in Mansfield to launch the project as the Minton Construction company of Cleveland got the work under way.

The Minton firm bid successfully on the job over two Mansfield companies, the Small Construction company and the Zedler Masonry company.

Harsh said construction calls for a new modern structure to be completed by Sept. 15.

Announcement of the new building was made several months ago following a similar announcement that it would spend $75,000 to improve its station here. The work on the Pennsylvania station is well under way and is expected to be finished about Sept. 1.

HEARS PENALTY

Annenberg Sentence for Tax Evasion Due Today.

CHICAGO—(P)—M. L. Annenberg, whose Midas touch to assorted businesses amassed a fabulous fortune, was recalled today to a federal courtroom to be sentenced (at 2 p. m. EST) for a $1,217,296 income tax evasion.

The maximum penalty possible under the count was five years' imprisonment and a $10,000 fine.

The 62-year-old former immigrant boy who once hawked newspapers on Chicago streets placed his destiny in the hands of Judge James H. Wilkerson. Since June 11 the court has had under advisement the government's statement of facts in the largest individual criminal tax case in history and Annenberg's plea for clemency.

TEXAS CHECKS FLOOD LOSSES

4 Dead, Hundreds Homeless After Rain Sends Streams Out of Their Banks.

BULLETIN
HALLETTVILLE, Tex.—(P)—The death toll in Texas floods mounted to nine today as rescue workers in southern and central Texas dug through the mud-smeared debris of river bank homes seeking additional victims.

(By Associated Press)
HALLETTVILLE, Tex.—Floodwaters from cloud burst-swollen streams raced across southeast Texas toward the gulf today after killing at least four persons and making hundreds homeless.

Epidemic and famine threatened this town of 1,800 persons, hardest hit of several communities flooded. Heavy rains sent the Lavaca, Colorado and Guadalupe rivers surging through business districts and across fertile farm lands.

More than a dozen persons were missing after a 30-minute flash flood poured a 15-foot wall of water down the usually placid Lavaca.

Damage here was estimated by C. S. Morgan, Yoakum newspaper editor, at more than $500,000.

The bodies of John Svab, Joseph Stanzel and his daughter, Agnes, were recovered. Earl Marks, 15, was drowned in the flooded Little river near Temple.

The flood followed a 12-inch rain in 12 hours. Three hundred HalleTTville families were homeless, and Dr. Harvey Renger, city health officer, appealed for 1,500 shots of typhoid vaccine. He said the town's water mains were contaminated. Food supplies were low.

Servis was three up at the end of 16 holes but Carlson rallied to ram down two brilliant putts for birdies to finish the 18 holes one down. He had a 71.

Servis took the lead on the third hole and held it through the first round.

BERLIN—(P)—German troops have occupied the British channel islands of Guernsey and Jersey, the high command announced tonight. It said Nazi forces landed on Guernsey yesterday and Jersey today.

(By United Press)
LONDON—Steadily intensifying bombing raids by the British and German air forces, and a speech by former Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain promising a house-to-house fight if necessary against German invasion, indicated today that the Nazi blitzkrieg against Britain, was near.

German planes dropped high explosive and incendiary bombs on England, Scotland and Wales during the night, and the air ministry announced that the Royal Air Force had made further extensive raids on German bases in France, Holland and Germany.

German planes were apparently seeking Royal Air Force airbases. They dropped high explosive and incendiary bombs in eastern England, but no serious damage or casualties were reported, the air ministry said.

BERLIN'S SUPPORT FOR CROSSING OF RUMANIAN BORDER INDICATED IF SOVIET SOLDIERS FAIL TO HALT; SEIZURE OF SUPPLIES STIRS GERMAN RESENTMENT.

BULLETIN
(By Associated Press)
BUDAPEST—The mobilization of a Hungarian army corps on the Rumanian frontier accompanied by the heavy calling of reservists throughout Hungary was followed tonight by an official news agency announcement that "the general impression is that Rumania is on the point of collapse."

(By Associated Press)
A thinly-veiled German counter to Russia's invasion of Rumania was seen today in the reported mobilization of Hungarian troops on the frontier of King Carol II's little Balkan kingdom—vital source of raw material supplies for Germany.

Hungary claims the full support of both Germany and Italy for any march into Rumania in the event Soviet Russia's armies overrun the limits of ceded territory—Bessarabia and Northern Bucovina—established in the agreement between Rumania and Russia.

Frontier "incidents" between Rumanian and Hungarian troops were said to have prompted the Hungarian mobilization.

Evidence of fierce fighting between Rumanian troops and Red army invaders came to light today as trainloads of Rumanian wounded arrived in Bucharest following reported clashes with Soviet forces on the Prut river.

The Russians were described as "raining" parachute troops on Rumanian soil and landing baby tanks from Soviet "kangaroo" planes.

Nazi ire was reported aroused by Russian seizure of German-owned materials in Bessarabia.

German officials, while diplomatically scouting any possibility of a German-Russian clash, said Germany's main interest was to prevent any disruption of her supply of vital materials—oil for her mechanized armies and foodstuffs—from Rumania.

Nevertheless, the Rumanian government already has appealed to Hitler to make Russia live up to last week's ultimatum agreement for ceded territory, thereby giving the Nazi fehrer an excuse, if he wants one, for marching into Rumania against Russia.

TRAGEDY: French Casualties In Struggle Set At 1,500,000

(By Associated Press)
SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain—French casualties in the disastrous final month of the war with Germany were estimated unofficially today at 1,500,000 men, most of them listed as dead or missing. It took Adolf Hitler's mechanized army approximately one month to destroy what 60 days ago still was described as the most efficient military machine in the world—the French army—and to overrun and occupy in its blitzkrieg more than half of France.

When France decided on June 12 to plead for an armistice the situation was so desperate, it is reliably reported, that General Weygand told the historic mid-night meeting of the French cabinet in a chateau near Tours that the French army had only cartridges enough to last three more days.

French ministers who had watched the army melt away along the line of the Somme and Aisne rivers wept as the generalissimo described how the Germans advanced, "slaughtering men who no longer have the means to defend themselves."

French leaders, including aged Marshal Henri Petain, now admit that the collapse of the army was due to three causes:

1. Lack of equipment.
2. Lack of man-power.
3. Lack of determination.

WEIGH THE PROFITS
You have a job of balancing to do when the opponent at your right has just overcalled your partner's opening suit bid with a suit you had expected to bid. Instead of resenting such interference, you should welcome it as opportunity knocking at your door. First you must weigh the possible profit if you double the opponent. Next estimate the likely gain which can accrue if you take some other action, such as a pass or a bid of your own suit or No-Trump. To do this accurately, you must consider the vulnerability.

| 15. ♠ K J | 16. ♠ K Q 10 5 |

If your partner made a dealer bid of 1-Diamond and the next player bid 1-Heart, your recommended action on the above hands, with (A) neither side vulnerable, (B) your side only, (C) your opponents only, and (D) both sides, would be:

- | | | | |
| A | B | C | D |

No. 1 should produce either a game or a set of three tricks, the latter paying more except when your side alone is vulnerable. With No. 2, No Trump is risky with no club stopper and only one in each major, the pass with opponents vulnerable is to make it easier for them to get into trouble.

With No. 3 a three-trick set seems doubtful when the opponent's overall was while vulnerable, therefore probably a bit stronger hand than when not vulnerable, but a game for your side seems pretty likely hence the 2-No Trumps with all vulnerable. No. 4 is just too weak to force a game with 2-No Trumps, but should set the opponents about two. With No. 5, game seems more likely than a profitable set, and you may need a rebid, so double only when they alone are vulnerable. With 6, the double is best except when only your side is vulnerable.

Marriage Meddlers By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

There was a note of anxiety in Mrs. Ticer's voice which I knew no answer I could give to her query would allay. So I made my response as quick and as nonchalant as possible.

"No, we shan't need Jim," I said. "But I want him to stay here until we get back. Then if the car is missed, they'll think Jim has come over here for supplies. I haven't time to explain now, but you'll know all about it later."

"I want to go with you," Jim said, looking me directly in the eyes. "Your father wouldn't want me to let you and Miss Underwood go off by yourselves this way."

"I'm sorry, Jim," I said firmly, "but it's impossible. Please don't delay us."

I backed the car around, and when it was headed toward the gate, I spoke to Mrs. Ticer who had come to my side of the car.

"Please don't try to keep us, or change our minds," I said softly.

"We must go, and I'm sure we'll be back again shortly. But tell us first. If you didn't know us so well, and met our car with us in it dressed this way would you think we were men or women?"

She swept us critically with her eyes.

"Men!" she said succinctly. "But don't get out of the car if you want to fool anybody. Your feet would give you away. And I'd pull up those scarfs a bit more about your faces. It's a mite coolish today—so it'll look natural."

"Thank you," I said. "Don't worry, and good day!"

"Have you any particular objective?" Lillian asked.

"Yes. From something I overheard, I know that the rendezvous of Leslie's men with the emeralds, and my father's men with the impersonators of Noel and Mary, will be on an almost deserted road that branches off from this one about two miles down. I've been down that road, looking for native plants for my garden, and I know of a wood road, not much more than a path, which branches off from it. I thought I'd jockey the car into that wood road far enough so it would be hidden. Then we could seal down and hide ourselves in the underbrush, where we can see everything without being seen, and help Dicky and Harry if the opportunity arises."

"We'd better be pretty sure it's an opportunity to help instead of hinder," Lillian commented grimly. "But it looks like a pretty fool-proof scheme to me. Here's hoping we don't meet any of Leslie's gang before we get settled. They're probably giving all ears the once over, and we don't want to arouse any suspicions."

"Of course not," I answered. But luck was with us, and we met no car at all during our journey, nor did Lillian report anybody behind us.

When we reached the narrow wood road leading from the one named as the rendezvous, I turned the station wagon half way around.

"I'll have to back in," I explained. "For I have no idea where I could get out of it again, and it would be an impossibility to turn around in it. Will you go to the back and guide me? It's going to be a ticklish job—this thing is wide, and it probably will need a paint job by the time I get through."

REMOVE BEFORE SEEDS FORM

BUD FLOWER

7-1

Continuing Bloom of Perennials.

Certain perennials can be encouraged to give a longer period of bloom if the forming seed pods are snipped off as soon as the petals fall from the dying blooms.

Columbine, for example, will bloom for a long time if the individual blossoms are snipped off as soon as the petals fall, instead of waiting for the entire spray of blossoms to die back. The accompanying Garden-Graph shows a spray with a bud, a flower in full bloom and a seed pod which is just beginning to form, following the fall of the flower petals. It is such seed pods which should be snipped off each day. The flowers which will continue to come into bloom will, of course, be smaller than the first ones put forth by the plant.

Dolphinium and anemone can be induced to bloom two and even three times by cutting them back immediately after each flowering. When this is done it will prove helpful if the plant is given a feeding of a liquid manure.

Phlox will produce continuing bloom if half of a plant's shoots are pinched back, while the other half is allowed to bloom. The shoots which have been pinched back will begin to bloom just about the time that the first blooms are fading.

CHAPTER XIV.

"Never got a chance to say how much I enjoyed your lecture the other night, sir," Mr. McKee put in now. "I hear people talking about it everywhere. You are rather youngish to be a professor, but—well, it's mighty fine, sir!"

It was a pretty compliment, and it came at a moment when Monty needed a spiritual lift. The girls heard it and smiled at Monty too.

The picnic spot was at the edge of the little lake from which Rosemary's trading post pumped its water, half a mile from the post itself. Because too many cooks spoil any broth, and because he liked to watch youth at play, Mr. McKee sat on a rock and announced that he intended to be a guest while the others worked. The girls were piddling with tiny shells found at the water's edge. So, automatically Monty and Bob moved to make the fire and cook the meat.

Monty, determined to be sociable, hastened to bring an armful of pine limbs, mostly green. He had actually knelt to build a fire when Bob came up with an armload of hard heavy oak, dry and knotty.

"Sa-a-y!" Bob began, deprecatingly. "For crimony's sakes, man, don't ruin these steaks! Don't you know how to cook?"

"Why—ah—I say—" Monty, kneeling, looked up at him.

"Listen, never try to cook meat on an open pine fire. You'll have a miserable flavor of turpentine, even if you can manage to get the meat done without sooting it. Look, helpless—first you build a snappy fire of twigs, then pile on a handful of dry hardwood. Hickory is best. But out here oak or ironwood or some such is good. They burn fast, and in a little while you have a bed of hot coals. Then you can sear the meat to hold the juices in, salt it and cook it to perfection without a pan of any kind and with a delicious barbecue flavor, see? Didn't they teach you any picnic manners at Yale?"

Bob said it razzingly, and Dr. Montgomery made no reply. And yet the girls, overhearing it, looked with one unspoken accord at Monty's face. Instantly they perceived that Bob had hurt him again.

Not offended, nor insulted him. But embarrassed him again. Rosemary had told Sue about the sadistic blanket episode. And now Bob had stung deep again without meaning to. It was, in fact, the second time this day that Dr. Montgomery had suffered from personal incompetence: the exciting moment of Ward Bascom's trying to kiss Rosemary was still fresh on their minds.

The girls tried to cover up for him with quick talk and laughter, and he silently thanked them with his eyes, although even that made him blush a shade deeper. He stood to one side and let Bob maneuver the fire alone.

"I will not take offense, or feel badly," Monty was declaring to himself. "I will not be a sensitive ninny this way! I positively will not!"

He forced himself to enter the conversation again. To make small talk. It wasn't hard, with the two pretty girls for company. The fire matter was dropped, but there were other topics.

"I came to the post looking for Bob," Mr. McKee began, after a moment. "Seems like he hangs around there every off minute he has, lately. Um! Wanted to tell him something."

"What, sir?" Bob, smiling, nevertheless came respectfully to hear.

"I want you to make a speech."

"Me, sir?"

"Sure. You're probably the handsomest man in the field around here. Anyhow you know most about the forest conservation work, and that's what's on my mind, really. I want you to put in a little propaganda, proper propaganda, before a big man, our big boss."

"You mean—?"

"I mean the President of the United States. He's coming for a short stopover at the Grand Canyon."

"Bob!" Sue exclaimed, happily.

"Oh fine!" Rosemary chimed in. All of them were interested.

"But—I—"

"No buts, Bob. It's an order. He's on a trip to the western coast, as you know, and has a few hours at the Canyon rim, sight-seeing. You must prepare a snappy fifteen minute report on forest conservation work, and slip in an appeal for more help. More appropriation and more men, see."

"Certainly, sir. If you order it. But—I haven't made many public speeches. And before the President—gosh!"

Plainly Bob was concerned, even though beaming at the honor. Monty Montgomery noticed that.

And, all at once it occurred to Monty to do an unselfish thing.

Here, he felt, was a sudden opportunity to return good for evil, to show himself as a man's friend.

"Oh I say, Bob," Monty began earnestly. "If I—ah, can be of any help—I am not inexperienced at public speaking, and perhaps I can aid you in preparing, or in organizing your speech. It would be a pleasure to render—"

Bob turned toward him, rather coldly. Surprisingly so, in fact. His response, slightly arrogant, was one that none of the others would ever have expected.

"Oh I don't know, Montgomery. After all, you dude college folks don't have any monopoly on the high-class brains."

Handsome Bob wasn't joking. The others all looked quickly at him. Monty's mouth popped open an instant, then he swallowed hard. There seemed to be nothing any of them could say.

The Grand Canyon of Arizona is the world's Number One scenic attraction.

Cabinet Hearing Demands Mark Re-Opening of Congress

STIMSON-KNOX APPOINTMENTS GET ATTENTION

Holt Demands Open Sessions as Committee Starts Study of Two Selections.

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON—(AP)—Senator Holt demands for open hearings on the Knox-Stimson cabinet appointments greeted congressmen returning to work today after a week's recess.

Protesting that a "secret hearing" would be very dangerous at this particular time, Senator Holt (D., W. Va.) said he would refuse to be bound by any secret pledge.

"They can expel me from the senate, but I won't be quiet about this," added the youngest senator, a member of the naval committee which will hear Col. Frank Knox, designated secretary of the navy, testify tomorrow on his qualifications.

Chairman Walsh (D., Mass.) had announced that the committee session would be closed to the public. While it is going on, the senate military committee will ask Henry L. Stimson about his qualifications to be secretary of war. Chairman Sheppard (D., Tex.) said this hearing probably would be private.

Senator Ellender (D., La.), a member of the naval committee, said he would request a public hearing on Knox's selection unless the appointee asked for a closed session.

Senator Nye (R., N. D.) suggested that Republicans might well seek views of Wendell L. Willkie, the party's presidential nominee, adding that senate confirmation of the cabinet officers was "certain to kick up a ruckus."

Senator McNary (R., Ore.), minority leader and his party's vice presidential nominee, said the appointments "are not a partisan matter."

"Confirmation will depend upon testimony and evidence at the hearings," he said. "Some senators fear that these men in important cabinet places might want to get us into war."

McNary said he would not object to any attempt to speed a vote, but added that the senate should be able to act before it recesses July 15 for the Democratic convention.

Stimson, former secretary of state, has publicly urged aid by this country for the Allies.

Scolded For His Attention to Girl, Leaps to His Death

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Apparently resenting his parents' objection to attentions he paid Ruth Smith, John Adams high school senior, Claud Murvine, 17, jumped to his death from the roof of an apartment building where the girl lived.

Coroner Samuel R. Gerber said he would conduct an autopsy today.

The Smith girl said she thought young Murvine was "kidding" when he told her he was going to the roof to jump off and both she and the youth's father, William Murvine, also an employee of the hotel, said they did not believe Claud jumped.

Charles Smith, the girl's brother, told police he saw Claud go through a hall window and climb a fire escape to the roof. Claud clung momentarily to a low wall skirting the roof, Charles said, then dropped into the street. He was pronounced dead at Charity hospital.

DIES AT 76 AT WILLARD HOME

Elizabeth Sykes was Librarian for 13 Years.

WILLARD—Miss Elizabeth Sykes, 76, city librarian here for 13 years, died at her home last night following a long illness.

She was the daughter of Andrew J. Sykes, killed in the Civil war and after whom the Willard G. A. R. post was named. The Willard Daughters of Union Veterans' post was named after her mother, Elizabeth Sykes.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday at the home with Rev. Homer A. Neff, pastor of Presbyterian church, officiating. Burial will be in Bethel cemetery.

STEEL RATE OFF

Industry's Average To Drop To 74.2 Per Cent. From 86.5.

NEW YORK—(AP)—The nation's steel mills will curtail production schedules to 74.2 per cent of capacity this week, a decline of 12.3 points from 86.5 per cent in the preceding week, the American Iron & Steel Institute estimated today. A month ago the rate was 80.3 per cent of capacity and a year ago 88.5.

Steel circles said the sharp decline reflected suspension of activity for the Fourth of July holiday, a recess widely observed in the industry.

Night Prowler Busy at 6 Mansfield Homes

In the hope of making grass grow where none grew before, city parks department workers have started a new lawn in the space between the street and sidewalk on the east side of Central park. The space has been bare for several years. On the other side of the park, summer flowers have been transplanted in the beds around the soldiers' monument and beneath the flag pole where the early spring tulips and hyacinths bloomed a few weeks ago.

J. Russell Murphy, athletic director at Mansfield high school for a number of years, came back to Mansfield today for a brief visit with friends. Murphy is now a member of the coaching staff of Cornell university, Ithaca, N. Y. On vacation, he stopped off here while on his way to Denver, Colo., his home.

"Design By Light," a new book by teachers of the Cleveland Art School, together with the proofs of the book are on display at the Public library. The book gives some interesting information on how designs of all kinds are made by the combination of the simplest objects. The fascinating print on a new summer dress may have been made by a combination of electric light bulbs, for instance. It will be of interest to art students, advertising writers and persons who do any kind of designing.

John G. Routzon, secretary manager of the Chamber of Commerce, has found a new way to follow the European war—even though the news he gets is two weeks old. Copies of the "Overseas Daily Mail," a London, England publication have been arriving regularly at his office. One of them has been posted in the window of The News-Journal and has created considerable attention from passersby.

TWICE ELUDES CAPTURE DURING EARLY MORNING

Two Residents Awakened to See Intruder; One Knocks Him Down With Fist.

A night prowler, believed by police to have been responsible for four house burglaries and two attempted burglaries over the weekend, escaped capture on two occasions early today in northeast Mansfield.

The four burglaries reported today boosted to nine the number of residences broken into during the past three days. Five burglaries were reported in the northeast part of the city Saturday.

Two men told police today that they routed the week-end prowler from their homes early this morning.

Kenneth Fortney, 150 Grace street, said that about 5 a. m. he observed a colored man looking in the window. He told officers he punched the fellow in the face with his fist and knocked him down but by the time he could get outside he was gone.

A half hour earlier, John Eider, 397 Grace street, called police when he was awakened by an intruder in his bedroom.

He said that man ran downstairs and went out through a window he had pried open. First floor of the residence was ransacked but nothing was taken.

Police searched unsuccessfully in the vicinity of Spring street for a prowler at 3 a. m. after Mrs. Martin Hoffman, 86 Spring street, called officers.

Home Ransacked.

Fred Miller, 315 Third avenue, told police this morning that his residence was ransacked last night but nothing was taken. Officers said entrance to the house was gained by prying open a window.

Mrs. R. B. McGauffin, 151 West First street, reported that her home was entered and several pieces of jewelry and an electric razor stolen. No estimate was placed on the loss.

Theft of a $50 watch from his home was reported by Virgil Harmon, 99 East Arch street.

The Voice of BROADWAY

—By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

Speaking for Myself.

I wonder if Mayor LaGuardia has abandoned his plan to promote a Hollywood in New York. I never thought much of the idea myself; I think it would take a lot of the fun out of the movie industry to transplant it to the big town where its delightful eccentricities would be swamped in the more vital machinations of the seven millions. If Mayor LaGuardia had spent more time in Hollywood, he would know that to preserve its special flavor, the movie industry has to be a big fish in a little pond.

Most Fifth Avenue store window mannequins look like Gail Patrick. Cab drivers around town are so entertaining, sometimes I suspect them of having a professional patter that they turn on with the meter. Being out just at dawn, when the street lights go off and the air is misty gray and the town silent, makes me feel like a character in a mystery novel.

The number of times I can stand hearing "Ol' Man River" sung by radio voice or concert baritone is extremely limited.

I can't understand why movie house managers set such great store in bingo and screen and keeno. The mere announcement that tonight is Bingo night changes me right away from a theatergoer to a character in a play. Even if Charles Boyer is playing, I think it couldn't be more boring. Jerome Kern always looks to me like a little white-haired wizard, and I guess in away that's what he is.

Hugh Marlowe, the ether Ellery Queen, is one of the few lads behind the microphones who look the way they sound. Sometimes I think laws are very silly. (Ed. note: that's what Al Capone thought, and look where it got him.) I'm thinking especially of the group of Diamond Horseshoe showgirls who wanted to go on a hay-ride with their beaux, and give the proceeds of the tickets they sold to the Red Cross.

But the excursion was called off—because the city demanded a $50 license fee.

I've noticed lately that you can spot an out-of-towner on Broadway not because he's looking for the Empire State building, but because he wants to be directed to the Automat. . . . Everytime I see a glamor girl smoking a midget pipe in the Stork club I want to say: "Oh, really, can't you figure out any other way of getting yourself stared at?" . . . I could stand more open top buses on Fifth avenue, especially in the evening when it's such a pretty under-the-stars ride. . . . I like bacon and conversation crisp.

I can't get excited about the political conventions, even though I know this is certainly a year when every citizen should have an active interest in them, for several reasons. First, I don't know much about politics.

I've never seen a movie version of a New York night club that even approximates what a New York night club really looks like. And there's no reason for it—D. Zanuck and D. Selznick have certainly spent enough time in El Morocco. . . .

It's very reassuring nowadays to have a restaurant call itself "French-Italian." A potent culinary axis, war or no war. . . .

Joy Hathaway, the young radio actress who stars in "Amanda of Honeymoon Hill" certainly does wonders with a character type that could be pure corn if it weren't so well handled. . . .

When I'm in good spirits I love to walk in the rain, but when I'm blue I hide from a thundercloud.

I wish the people who are campaigning for helmets for ball players would also campaign against those awful long-underwear uniforms they come out on the field in.

Hollywood Speaks—

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—"All This, and Heaven Too." Screenplay by Casey Robinson from novel by Rachel Field. Directed by Anatole Litvak. Principals: Bette Davis, Charles Boyer, Jeffrey Lynn, Barbara O'Neil, Virginia Weidler, Helen Westley, Walter Hampden, Henry Daniell, Harry Davenport, George Coulouris, Montagu Love, Janet Beecher, June Lockhart, Ann Todd, Richard Nichols, Fritz Leiber, Ian Keith.

Miss Field's best-seller had so many readers that comment on the story is needless. The film version deals in the main with the heroine's life in France and merely suggests the latter portion of the book dealing with her interesting but undramatic days in America.

This life in France—in 1849 during the reign of Louis Philippe—gives Miss Davis as the quiet governess Henrietta Deluz Desportes opportunity for a dramatic performance totally lacking in the "tricks" so objectionable to those outside the Davis cult of worshippers. Miss Davis seizes the opportunity to deliver her best and in every way most impressive work.

Although the settings beautifully recreate the feel of the period, "All This, and Heaven Too" always is a story of human conflict. From the moment the governess obtains her position in the household of the Duc de Praslin (Boyer) she is entangled in the ultimate tragedy implicit there. The jealous, neurotic wife (O'Neil), the lonely husband, the bright children to whom Henrietta brings understanding and kindness, form a powerful milieu for drama. Out of the situation, the denouement—one of France's most sensational murders—works logically, inevitably, climax piling upon climax for a tense and deeply moving film.

Script, direction and performance go hand in hand in tasteful and delicate projection of plot and character. Delicacy is especially notable in the treatment of the deep, always platonic love that grows between Henrietta and the Duc. Boyer makes the Duc a convincing character, but second only to Miss Davis is Barbara O'Neil, playing another unbalanced wife to Boyer her first was in "When Tomorrow Comes". The children are a remarkable quartet, with Richard Nichols as Reynald the most delightful moppet in years.

"The Mortal Storm." Margaret Sullivan, James Stewart, Robert Young, Frank Morgan, Robert Stack, Bonita Granville, Irene Rich, William T. Orr, Maria Ouspenskaya.

Here is a beautifully done, unembittered picture of what Hitlerism can do to human relations. The family in question has a "non-Aryan" father wed to an "Aryan" mother with two children by a previous marriage, two (Sullivan and Gene Reynolds) by the second. They live in Germany. Under the impact of Nazi ideology, the family is wrecked—heartbreakingly, poignantly, inevitably. Heavy fare for these days, but heartily recommended for its sheer power, for its splendid performances notably by Young, Morgan, Sullivan, Frank Borzage directed.

Cleveland Indians Place Six Men on All-Star Team

Tribe Lands 3 Men In Infield; Feller, Hemsley

Mack and Boudreau, Sensational Rookies, Make Grade, So Does Keltner and Milnar.

CLEVELAND—It isn't often that a freshman makes the all-star team in either big league. But Cleveland's scintillating double-play combination of Ray Mack and Lou Boudreau have done it.

Ray Mack, the former Case ace of the gridiron, and Lou Boudreau, ex-captain of the University of Illinois basketball team, have captured the acclaim of American league managers. Mack's stellar play at second, and Boudreau's sensational work at short are largely responsible for the Indians' present high standing. They head a sextet of Cleveland Indian ball tossers selected on the American league all-star team.

Gridiron Star Now Plain Buck Private

NEW YORK—(AP)—Gridiron Star Abel "Dave" Smukler neatly boosted his chances at fame and fortune in professional ranks into the air yesterday as he took up duties as plain Buck private in the United States army.

Smukler, former fullback at Temple University, later with the Philadelphia Eagles and scheduled to play this year with the Detroit Lions, enlisted a few days ago. He now is at Fort Slocum awaiting shipment to Hawaii where he will see service in the coast artillery.

His shift from gridiron to army ranks is being witnessed by "Post-82" Clark, manager of the Detroit club. Fort Slocum officers revealed today, Post-82 was said, complained that he bought Smukler's contract for a "fat cat" and was humiliated by the army.

Cipris Equals Mayer's Mark Of 32 at Possum Run Links

By GEORGE SATTLER
Despite bad weather over most of the week-end, Frank Cipris, one of Possum Run's top-notch golfers, banged out a 32 and a 39 for a par-smashing 71.

Cipris' 32 for the inside nine equals the low-score mark established early this spring by Joe Mayer, '39 Possum Run champ and winner of fifth place in the publinks tournament this year.

Mayer has managed to duplicate his performance twice and Carl Wiseman once. Cipris is the third Possum Run inhabitant to be added to Irish McGee's hall of fame so far this season.

Next lowest score over the rainy week-end was tallied by John Kleshinski at the Run links. Kleshinski paced off the 18 holes for a 73, one over par.

Lawrence Deley pressed Kleshinski hard for the second position, piling up 74 strokes to Kleshinski's 73. Carl Wiseman, who shares the low-score mark with Mayer and Cipris, shot a 76 yesterday.

Rain stopped the play early at Westbrook Sunday and no exceptional scores were available.

Split Twin Bill

Great Day for Smiths as Al Smith Wins One and Edgar Smith One.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—The Cleveland Indians perform for the home folks and neighbors tonight under the floodlights of the Cleveland stadium, opening a three-game series with the St. Louis Browns.

The league-leading Tribe returns home two games ahead of Detroit and three and a half ahead of Boston after splitting a Sunday doubleheader at Chicago.

It was a great day for the Smiths. Al Smith pitched Cleveland to a 7-to-5 victory in the first game. Edgar Smith maniaed the Tribe in the second to hurl out a 3-to-1 Chicago equalizer.

The Indians slugged the veteran Ted Lyons for 14 hits including a home run by Lou Boudreau. They decided the outcome with a four-run blast in the fifth inning.

Smith got in trouble, yielding four hits and two runs in the sixth before flies retired the Sox. Again he wobbled for three hits and a run in the ninth but Johnny Allen rescued him.

Edgar Smith allowed the Indians only five hits in his game while Al Milnar gave up seven to the Sox. One of the latter was a home run by Mike Kreevich in the sixth inning which scored Skeeter Webb also and decided the issue.

Joe Dobson is scheduled to pitch tonight against Elden Auker of the Browns

Mansfield Leads Fremont, 9-6, When 'Rains Came' to Halt Contest in Third.

MANSFIELD'S Braves had a ball game won yesterday. But the "rains came" and ended it with Mansfield leading Fremont, 9 to 6.

Tony Drewik, big right-hander from Detroit, made a sensational start on the mound for the Braves, fanning three in a row in the first two innings.

After McDonough walked in the first frame, White struck out. McDonough was erased at second on an attempted steal. Missler to Beals, and Sewell whiffed for the third out. Hass also fanned to start the second inning.

The Braves tallied four runs in the initial session when Hunder led off with a double. Beals singled. Stover was safe on Sewell's error and Woodten doubled. Fremont came back in the second with one run when, with one out, Gerken was safe on Missler's error, and Lance doubled.

Five runs were chalked up by the Braves in their half of the second. They batted around with Beals and Stover connecting for doubles, and Woodten and Woodlin for singles.

Fremont scored two runs in the third and then the game was called.

Today the Braves journey to Fremont to take on the Green Sox and Tuesday both teams return to Mansfield for a single contest at the Fairground. On Wednesday, Tiffin and Mansfield tangle on the Fairground diamond for the final game of the week in Mansfield.

The Braves will not play at home again until Sunday.

Manager Dewey Stover announced today that Herb Woodten, who replaced Miagza in center-field yesterday, had been chosen by the newly-organized writers' club to take Miagza's place on the All-Star team.

Woodten, who played with the Lima Pandas last year, was one of the leading hitters in the league. He had a .389 average at the end of the season.

The All-Star game will be played Wednesday, July 10, at Lima.

AKRON FIGHTS TO KEEP OUT OF M-A CELLAR

DAYTON, O.—(AP)—The up-and-coming Akron Yankees, who were fighting to keep out of the Mid-Atlantic league cellar only a week ago, today are only four games out of first place.

The Yanks gained a half-game on the leading Canton Terriers yesterday, whipping the Dayton Wings twice, 9-5 and 4-2, while the Terriers were taking a single game at Portsmouth, 10-4. Charleston and Youngstown were rained out.

Ens, Red Ace Makes Debut

Indianapolis Sweeps Twin Bill From Red Birds.

Jewel Ens and John Vander Meer may be just what the Indianapolis Indians need to climb out of the American Association depths.

Their joint debut was impressive enough Sunday as the Indians swept a doubleheader with Columbus. The twin bill marked the beginning of Ens' term as successor to Manager Wes Griffin.

Vander Meer, optioned by Cincinnati two days ago, pitched and batted the club to victory in the second game.

The two wins pulled the Indians out of the cellar and into seventh place, a half game ahead of Toledo. Red Barrett tossed the 9 to 1 first game victory. Vander Meer yielded only six hits in the nightcap for a 5 to 3 victory.

Minneapolis clung to its half game lead over second place Kansas City by splitting two games with the Blues, 11-3 and 11-3.

Louisville and Toledo split a twin bill. The Hens won the opener, 9 to 3, but dropped the second game, 6 to 2.

Reds Win Twice

Cincinnati Plasters Cubs 7-4 and 7-6 for Sixth Twin Triumph.

ST. LOUIS — (AP) — The pace setting Cincinnati Reds had another double victory under their belts and their hands on the throttle to steam ahead in the National League pennant race as they turned their attention to the Cardinals today.

Time was when the Gas Housers held a jinx over the Reds but that was broken last year. The Rhinelanders, who have taken six games to one over the Cardinals this season, called Whitey Moore to the mound against Lon Warneke.

The Reds plastered a double-kay on the Cubs in Cincinnati yesterday, 7-4 and 7-6, their sixth twin triumph of the season.

The Reds big clubs, only mildly effective since the season started, blasted out 28 safeties against nine Chicago hurlers. Fifteen blows were landed in the nightcap against five Bruin moundsmen.

Lonnie Frey started the bombardment with a home run in the first inning of the opener. Ival Goodman and Ernie Lombardi brought in three runs in the third with doubles.

James Gleason connected for a homer with the bases loaded in the fifth but Cincinnati scored three more runs in the seventh to give Bucky his tenth victory.

In the second game Chicago got two runs in the second and three in the third inning as Bill Nicholson marked up his ninth homer. The Cubs scored again in the fourth.

The Reds came up in their half of the fourth to score twice. Frank McCormick crossed the plate on his ninth homer and Morrie Aronovich singled in a run. Cincinnati counted two in the fifth. Aronovich singled to tie the score in the eighth and Eddy Joost put over the winning run with a single in the ninth after McCormick's second double of the game.

Elmer Riddle was accredited with winning the second game, with the loss charged to Larry French.

Sayrs was second in the small-bore with 3348, while Mrs. Dorothy Kelley, Akron, fired 3346 for third. Bob Lautsen, Port Clinton, won the junior title with 1185.

COLONELS DEFEATED
LOUISVILLE, Ky. — (AP) — Indianapolis won a free-hitting contest from the Louisville Colonels by 5 to 3 yesterday to sweep the two-game American Association series. Ed Medjeski, Louisville catcher, injured a finger catching a foul tip in the ninth inning and was replaced by Buddy Lewis.

Hungary Puts Army Corps at Frontier

Masses Men on Rumanian Border, With Axis Consent, Belief; Russians And Rumanian Soldiers Clash.

threatened by an Axis-supported Hungarian invasion to stop Russia and by a possible German move to safeguard Nazi interests in Rumania.

Balkan officials reflected mounting nervousness as the Soviet's red army seized command of the lower Danube river in Rumania, one of Germany's vital supply lines.

Coincidentally, other dispatches said Russia demanded that Turkey grant her a share in defense of the Dardanelles, key link between the Black sea and the Mediterranean, while Germany and Italy are concentrating on the battle against Britain.

The Red army which has been pushing west and south to occupy territory ceded on demand by Rumania yesterday surprised the Rumanian garrison at Reni, where the Danube and Prut rivers join, by landing baby tanks suspended between the wheels of transport planes.

The Rumanians did not even have time to take their rifles off the racks—and Russia thus was in control of the Danube at a spot where a few machine-guns may stop traffic on that artery which is so vital to Germany.

Reni is in the southeast corner of Bessarabia, which Rumania yielded to Russia along with northern Bucovina in the hope of avoiding conflict.

Whether Reni was among the cities which Rumania intended to surrender was not clear, but a Rumanian-Russian conference is scheduled in Odessa Tuesday to set the final demarcation lines.

Rumanian reports from the ceded areas told of street fighting in many cities among Communists and anti-Communists.

Convicts in two cities were freed by their jailers. DNB, official German news agency, and the German radio related that up to about 600 persons were killed in Jewish disturbances at Galati, Rumanian town just outside Bessarabia.

Tass, official Soviet news agency, told of occupations by Russian parachute troops, tanks and motorized infantry, but asserted everything was progressing smoothly.

Trainloads of Wounded Brought Back From Frontier

BUCHAREST—Trainloads of Rumanian wounded arrived in the capital shortly after noon today for hospitalization. They were understood to have been wounded in clashes with Russian troops on the Prut river.

At the same time military quarters declared the probability of further clashes between Rumanian and Russian forces was heightened by the fact the Russian army was increasing the tempo of its occupation of ceded Bessarabia and northern Bucovina.

Today, it was reported, parachute troops were "rained" on parts of the two provinces not yet occupied.

Refugees said Russian state police agents and Soviet shock troops were dropped by parachute in many towns and villages.

Rumanian officials expressed belief this was to round up aristocrats and large landowners and prevent removal of gold and other valuables from the occupied area.

As the Russian advance continued, Rumanian police sought to prevent the possibility of rioting.

Thousands of arrests were made in Bucharest and other cities under a new regulation prohibiting citizens from congregating in groups of four or more or assembling in any number of cafes and other public places.

Rumanian officials returning from the occupied territories declared that Russian military trials were condemning Rumanians "in wholesale batches."

They reported refugees had been shot while attempting to sneak through Russian lines into old Rumania.

Current, pro-German Bucharest newspaper, charged editorially that Russia was planning destruction of Rumanian oil fields from which Germany otherwise would receive gasoline.

Hungary Calls More Troops As Border Clashes Grow

(By United Press)

BUDAPEST—Hungary called additional troops to the colors today after reports arrived from the frontier of clashes between Rumanian and Hungarian troops.

The clashes were reported by the semi-official newspaper, Magyar Ország. In a dispatch from the frontier it asserted that Rumanian troops had crossed into Hungary near Feketegyarmat today and were repulsed by Hungarian forces. No details of the clash were given.

It was announced officially that the Budapest army corps area now has been fully mobilized.

The calling up of additional troop units, particularly auto and truck drivers and technicians, is being accelerated, it was announced. All age classes of reservists are affected.

The mobilization of additional Hungarian troops followed reports circulating in diplomatic quarters that Russia was demanding a voice in control of the Dardanelles.

United States Fleet Returns To Hawaii—After 'Test Run'

(By United Press)

HONOLULU—The United States fleet was back in Lahana Roads today after a week's absence amid reports that it has started for the Panama Canal but had turned back because of far eastern developments.

However, Admiral James O. Richardson, commander-in-chief of the fleet, said: "Regarding the departure last Monday of the major portion of the U. S. fleet, this was merely a routine fleet exercise simulating wartime sailing without prior notification. Such exercises have taken place in the past and are an essential part of training. They may be expected to recur."

Regarding reports circulated in the United States last week that the fleet was bound for the Canal and possibly for a temporary base in the Atlantic because of the European situation, Admiral Richardson said: "The nature of the exercise precluded the use of the radio, otherwise I would have corrected the highly speculative impression created by the maneuver."

The warships entered Lahana Roads yesterday. About 40 ships could be seen from shore. Some of the best informed sources here still were convinced that the fleet had been bound for Panama and that its return indicated a sudden shift of plans, possibly because of the far eastern situation.

WOMAN KILLED ONE DROWNED

Canton Woman Fatally Injured In Head-on Collision as Auto Skids on Road.

Survivors told state highway patrolmen that Charles and George went into the water and found it too swift. Showers rescued Paul from the current and although Paul had hold of Charles, he lost his grip.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Wednesday at the home and at 2:30 p. m. at the Salem Evangelical church in Beech community. Rev. J. Q. Smoke will officiate.

In Mansfield today J. C. Welles, 23, whose home is believed to be in Wichita, Kan., an employee of the Dodson show, was seriously injured when he was struck by an automobile driven by Philip A. Bernard, of Niles.

Patrolman Howard C. Schuck said Welles was crossing Ashland road at East Fourth street when Bernard's car hit him.

Taken to General hospital, Welles was reported to have suffered a skull fracture and other injuries. He was unconscious at noon today.

Mrs. Herbert Quigley, 64, Boise, Idaho, was in the Willard municipal hospital suffering from a fractured arm sustained yesterday when the car in which she was riding with two other women, enroute home from the World's Fair skidded on U. S. route 224 near Greenwich and went into a ditch.

Also in the Willard hospital is Mrs. Vera Fowler, 42, Youngstown, injured when an automobile driven by her husband, Floyd, skidded in U. S. route 224 near Attica and left the highway. Mr. Fowler was not injured.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Patterson, Newark, were treated at physicians' office in Greenwich following a collision with a machine driven by Allen Harrison, 33, Akron, at the intersection of U. S. route 224 and route 13 in Huron county yesterday.

State highway patrolmen said they were told that Patterson, driving north on route 13 failed to observe a stop sign.

In a head-on collision on route 3 near Loudonville last night three persons were injured. All were treated in Loudonville for cuts and bruises.

Patrolmen said Birin M. Scott, 42, Junction city, pulled out of a line of traffic to pass another car and collided with a machine driven by Harry Johnson, North Canton. Riding with Scott was his wife, Mildred.

Injured Near Polk.

In the Good Samaritan hospital at Ashland with a fractured shoulder is Miss Thelma Rinehart, 20, of Caledonia.

The suffered the injury when a car driven by George Gray, 19, also of Caledonia, sideswiped a machine driven by E. R. Duffendorf of Loyal Oak, on U. S. route 42 near Polk. Occupants of the other car escaped injury.

Elsewhere in the state weekend accidents were fatal to at least 15 persons.

A boat capsized during a trial run on Portage lakes, sending to their deaths three members of an Akron family—Loren Ward, 34-year-old trucking concern operator; his wife, Ada, 31, and their son, Robert, 5.

Another son, Donald, 11, was rescued by boaters, along with Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Hartline in whose craft all were riding.

The first day's program included coronation of a homecoming king and queen, a street fair and a contest for model airplane builders, from several states.

LAUNCHING OF NAZI WAR ON BRITAIN NEARS

Both Sides Increase Speed, Intensity of Air Attacks, Claim Damages.

(Continued From Page 1) planes bombed the airport of Abbeville, on the French coast, the air ministry said, striking a hangar, setting four planes afire and damaging other planes.

Rail sidings and freight yards were attacked at Vignacourt, north of Abbeville, and rolling stock was set afire, the ministry said.

Chamberlain's radio speech yesterday could hardly have been more vigorous.

He said the cabinet and the country were working in complete unity and that reports of peace negotiations merely played the Nazi game.

"We would rather go down to ruin than admit domination by the Nazis," he said. "I do not for a moment underestimate the military might which has overwhelmed the gallant French army. . . . We all know that the enemy is now free to fall upon us. No doubt the air raids which we have lately experienced are only a prelude to something more serious."

"For the Nazis are staking everything upon the chance of winning a short war. We know they now are completing preparations for an attempt to invade this country. At any moment the attack may be launched by sea and by air."

RAF Claims Hit On Troop Concentration.

CAIRO—(UP)—The Royal Air Force was officially reported today to have scored direct hits on an enemy troop concentration near Sabderat in Italian East Africa.

The RAF also raided Accio and bombed two naval vessels in the harbor there.

British Comment On Death of Balbo.

LONDON—(P)—The British foreign office drew a parallel today between the "unexplained" death of Italy's air marshal Italo Balbo in a plane crash in Libya and that of Germany's Col.-Gen. Baron Werner Von Fritsch in the siege of Warsaw.

Von Fritsch, a foreign office news department statement recalled was an "opponent of Hitler's home and foreign policy."

ROME—(P)—The plane in which Air Marshal Balbo met death Friday was shot down by machine-guns in British planes when it appeared over Tobruk, Libya, while a British air raid was under way, the newspaper Il Popolo Di Roma reported today.

Orders Embassies Out of 4 Countries.

BERLIN—(P)—The German foreign office advised the United States embassy and presumably all other embassies today to discontinue all diplomatic missions in Norway, Belgium, Luxembourg and the Netherlands.

The missions must be discontinued by July 15. The foreign office informed the U. S. embassy that all political questions affecting these countries must be taken up through the mission in Berlin.

Consulates will be permitted to remain. France is not included in this group.

Graziani Assigned To Balbo's Libyan Post.

ROME—(P)—Marshal Rodolfo Graziani, chief of staff of the Italian army and veteran of the Ethiopian campaign, has been placed in command of Italy's armed forces in North Africa, it was announced today.

He replaces Marshal Italo Balbo, whose death in an aerial combat was announced Saturday.

"Marshal Graziani, who flew to Libya, took command of all armed forces in North Africa," the regular war bulletin stated.

Talks to Dealers

J. Edgar Matthias, Fort Worth, Texas, shown above, will address members of the Mansfield Automobile Dealers association at an "early bird" breakfast tomorrow morning at the Mansfield-Leland hotel. A sales promotion expert, Matthias will speak on "The Country Boy Salesman," an address dealing with co-operation between dealers and their salesmen. R. E. Moorhead, president of the association, said it is expected that approximately 60 automobile dealers and salesmen will attend the breakfast at 7 a. m.

Mansfield Dealers Begin Collecting New U. S. Taxes

EXTRA PENNIES BOOST COSTS OF LUXURIES

Gasoline, Liquor, Beer Prices Go Up to Pay for Nation's Military Defenses.

Mr. and Mrs. Mansfield began paying today for a war they hope will never come.

But the federal government, taking no chance and needing millions to pay for the nation's biggest rearmament program, started collecting new taxes today on most luxuries and a few of the necessities.

No one who owns a car, goes to the movies, smokes, or enjoys a glass of beer now and then will escape the tax, although there won't be any tax stamps to show he has paid it.

In a few cases the dealer will absorb the additional levies, but most of them will be passed on to the public which probably won't complain as much about this tax increase.

Gas Up Half a Cent.

Beginning today, the motorist who pulls up to a filling station and says: "Give me ten," will pay an additional five cents. The tax will be a half-cent per gallon. There will be a half-cent tax per gallon on motor oil, but most dealers will absorb that increase.

The cigarette price picture was a confusing one in Mansfield, with some dealers charging one cent extra and others two cents. The majority, however, boosted the price to 17 cents, a two-cent increase. Chain stores raised their cigarette prices one cent a pack. The price in vending machines was 17 cents.

The price of a 10-cent glass of beer didn't change in most places, but 10-cent bottles and cans went up to 15 cents or two for 25 cents. The tax on liquor added from 17 cents to 19 cents per quart to the price, depending upon the grade.

Theater tickets are higher, too, with the rates boosted from 35 cents to 40 cents and from 30 cents to 35 cents, depending upon the former price level.

Beer and liquor dealers in some sections were taking advantage of the tax to make a bigger profit on goods purchased before the price went up. They can now sell it at a bigger price, giving the tax as an excuse for the raise.

VOTE TOMORROW

Westinghouse Employees To Decide Bargaining Agent.

Nearly 4,000 Mansfield Westinghouse employees are expected to go to the polls at an election Tuesday at the plant to decide whether they shall be represented by the CIO-United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers' union in their labor bargaining.

The election, which will be conducted by National Labor Relations board officials from Cleveland, was ordered by the NLRB on the petition of the CIO union.

The union withdrew from an election last winter in which the Westinghouse Employees' association failed to win bargaining rights.

HURT IN FIGHT

Carnival Employee Stabbed In Fight; Suspect Jailed.

A 26-year-old colored man was in the General hospital today with a knife wound in the breast while police jailed his alleged assailant, another colored man.

In the hospital is James Cunningham, of Charlotte, N. C., whom police said, suffered the wound in a fight with the other man at the carnival grounds in Ashland road last night.

Cunningham's condition was reported "as just fair" at noon today.

Police said both men were employees of Dodson's World's Fair shows. Unable to question Cunningham they said they would probably talk to the other man this afternoon.

Dodson's World's Fair Shows Set Up Tents on Lot

While a big crowd looked on, the big wagons and tons of rides and equipment of the Dodson's World's Fair shows were unloaded this morning and set up on the Armory lot where the carnival will begin a week's engagement tonight.

The first section of the shows' special train pulled in at 5 a. m. today and by noon most of the 20 rides and dozens of tent theaters had been set up.

Free acts high in the air, featuring the "Four Aerial Apollos" and Capt. "Speedy" Phoenix, who dives 115 feet into a small net, will be presented nightly.

A colored minstrel show, a number of musical revues, band concerts, a trained monkey circus, and sideshows will line the big Dodson midway.

There will be a fireworks display the night of July 4 and a band concert every evening. The show's appearance in Mansfield is being sponsored by the Mansfield Building Trades council.

EXCESS PROFITS TAX SUBMITTED

Roosevelt Sends Special Message to Congress, Urges All Share Defense Burden.

(Continued From Page 1) American taxpayers, rich and poor alike, began paying extra levies today on cigarettes, liquor and other goods to help pay rearmament costs.

The president's message follows: "To the congress of the United States:

"We are engaged in a great national effort to build up our national defense to meet any and every potential attack.

"We are asking even our humblest citizens to contribute their mite.

"It is our duty to see that the burden is equitably distributed according to ability to pay so that a few do not gain from the sacrifices of the many.

"I therefore, recommend to the congress the enactment of a steeply graduated excess profits tax, to be applied to all individuals and all corporate organizations without discrimination."

House Majority Leader Sam Rayburn had disclosed earlier that the administration plan was to write a tax generally similar to the excess profits tax that was repealed early in the 1920's.

"That tax raised a lot of money and the new tax will follow the same lines," he said. "There won't be so many war millionaires."

The old levy, known as the "war excess profits tax," began at 20 per cent and ranged up to 60 per cent on the net income made by a corporation, partnership or individual on the capital invested in a given business.

Who's talking through whose hat?

IN THE LAST FEW MONTHS, certain regular-priced gasolines have been implying that they will perform as well as our premium-priced gasoline, Gulf No-Nox.

Actually, that is a long way from being true.

There are three methods most generally used to determine the anti-knock value of a gasoline. These tests are used by us, used by our competitors, and are recognized by everybody in the industry.

On these tests of quality made by an independent laboratory, the regular gasoline, which is making the most to-do about being the equal of Gulf No-Nox, RATED 7 FULL POINTS BELOW GULF NO-NOX!

Even a 3-point difference in anti-knock rating is a noticeable difference. This 7-point difference is a BIG difference—gives Gulf No-Nox a major advantage in the high-compression engines you find in the newer cars.

Therefore, don't swallow it hook, line, and sinker, when someone tells you that his regular gas (however much it's been improved!) is as good as improved Gulf No-Nox. It isn't. In gasolines, as in everything else, you get about what you pay for.

These facts aren't just paper facts. You can confirm them in your own gas tank. Next time—try just one tankful of No-Nox, and make up your own mind whether any regular gas, anywhere, is within shouting distance of it!

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, MONDAY, JULY 1, 1940.

The more serious the times, the greater the opportunity for courage and distinguished service.

Efforts will now be made to add around thirty million voices to the "We Want Willie" chorus.

According to Dr. William Lyon Phelps, reading newspapers is conducive to longevity—as folks naturally want to make sure that Little Orphan Annie gets through all right.

Our Threatened Heritage of Freedom

EDUCATION in Americanism is an urgent need in the United States today—so that even the most ignorant can be made to understand the blessed privilege of liberties that are being accorded them, and so that all men, women and children who live in this country will better realize the advantages of a government "of the people, for the people, by the people" over any form of dictatorship.

In a much discussed series of five full page advertisements, the last of which appeared in yesterday's News-Journal, an effort was made to present in a clear and concise way the fundamental principles of Americanism.

Publication of these advertisements, made possible by co-operation of a number of Mansfield manufacturers and other organizations, served to direct attention of readers to some neglected facts associated with American citizenship.

"Where else but in America," it was asked, "can these be yours: Equality for every person . . . for every race . . . every creed.

"Guaranteed security of person and property. Individual freedom and full opportunity . . . limited only by our own ability and energy.

"The right to help choose your own government. Free speech . . . a free press . . . freedom of assembly, and trial by jury."

The United States of America, which next Thursday is to celebrate the anniversary of its birth, has progressed through more than a century and a half to bring to its present-day citizenship the rich heritage they now enjoy.

There are alien influences within our borders which threaten this heritage and there are outside forces which menace the future of our democracy.

"America! Love it or leave it," was the title of the final advertisement in the series. The personal liberty vouchsafed Americans was never intended to apply to those who would destroy it.

If you missed reading any of the full-page articles in this series, look them up—and, after reading them, place them in the hands of others who may have failed to read them.

Approaching the Fourth

MANSFIELD'S experience with community Fourth of July celebrations, under sponsorship of the Public Parks association, has been so satisfactory for the past two years that continuance of the plan meets with very general public favor.

Advantages of this form of Independence day observance have become increasingly apparent and the idea is being adopted by many other cities, large and small.

The program for next Thursday afternoon and evening, at the Richland county fairgrounds, promises a variety and excellence of entertainment superior to any thus far given, and, with pleasant weather, a new attendance record will likely be established.

Mansfield's problem of enforcing the fireworks ban, which penalizes sale or use of fireworks or other explosives inside the city limits, is still complicated by lack of a state law which would prevent transient roadside stands from disposing of explosives just outside the city.

It should be understood by adults and children that use of firecrackers and all kinds of explosives, either before or on the Fourth of July, is against the law and that persons who do this are subject to arrest.

It is gratifying to note that Chief of Police Bates has issued a warning that there will be strict enforcement of the fireworks ban, and has asked that all neighborhood disturbances of this kind be reported to the police department, so that offending children and their parents can be summoned into court.

Helping Weak Children

MANY of today's adults remember when high school gym work was for the healthy youngsters. Pupils who were not strong, or who had physical defects of one sort or another, brought doctors' certificates excusing them from gym classes. Some strict teachers made these exempt ones spend the hour lying down, but that's about as much attention as anyone paid to them.

That attitude has changed. Physical education today not only provides exercise and play for the well and strong, but makes special effort to help the weak. Corrective exercises, under the guidance of an expert, posture training, massage, and various other means are employed to remove small defects, improve the general health and build up puny bodies. Good results go farther than this. Many a timid, backward child responds to such physical education mentally and spiritually as well. Inferiority complexes vanish and social life becomes happy and normal.

The physical director of a high school in Albany, N. Y., reports a pupil who regained use of a paralyzed arm and another mild lad who "remodeled" the school bully into a good companion, not by licking him but by being able to hold his own with him. In more than one field there has been improvement over the "good old days."

Japan's New Doctrine

JAPAN, which has always been imitative, now has an Oriental Monroe Doctrine. The Orient is for the Orientals. And by plain implication, Occidentals must mind their own business in trans-Pacific regions.

This new doctrine is put into effect as Japan moves her fleet southward and prepares to take over French Indo-China. The French provinces are warned to be good, and strong hints to the same effect are given to Britain and America. Especially, perhaps, to America, which is now regarded as the biggest obstacle to the expansion of Japan in realizing her "manifest destiny."

The outcome depends a good deal on the American fleet, which recently left Hawaii. Most Americans frankly hope it is coming home, except for such vessels as may be needed to protect Hawaii. It goes against the grain to see Japan robble up the possessions of friendly and democratic powers like France and Holland, but this nation cannot police the world against totalitarian conquest.

Watching Trends

—By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — This is the story of two young men who have more "telephone numbers" than any young men I ever heard of.

The young men are L. W. Lawder and Edwin Rice, a couple of Washington boys who surely did make good with the national Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Here's how it was: The Jaycees, as they have copyrighted themselves, decided to hold their 1940 convention in Washington. The only checkrein on success of previous conventions was a dearth of dates. So the national president of these young business men overflowing with civic exuberance appointed Lawder and Rice to do something about dates.

As Lawder puts it: "It was up to us to see that no man came to the convention wanting a date for the social events who couldn't get one. And man, was that an assignment!"

Well, it could only happen here. There's probably not another city in the United States—not even Hollywood—where you could get a thousand girls to volunteer for blind dates. If it hadn't been for the ingenuity of Lawder, Rice & Co. it probably couldn't even have been done here . . . in spite of the fact that Washington has a greater surplus of women than any other town in the country. Even in Washington, where there are thousands of female government clerks, stenographers, et al., you can't just pull blind dates out of the hat.

How to Do It

HERE'S the way it was done, according to Lawder (just in case you are having a convention for young men only and want a hint):

"Ed and I spent a couple of months trying to work out a plan that would get results. Finally we sat down and made a list of all the girls we knew and all the girls our friends knew who might be eligible for blind dates."

"When we got through we had a list of 60 girls. We invited all these girls to a party and put our problem in their hands. There wasn't a one who let us down. They went out and solicited the aid of all their friends and when the list was in we had more than 500 girls who were willing to pitch in and make the Jaycee convention a success."

"That was swell but that was not half enough so we turned next to the social organizations in the various departments. We went before their meetings, explained what we were up against and asked for volunteers. That way, we got 500 more girls."

"Every one of these filled out cards, listing their ages, heights, weights, coloring (blond or brunette), their home towns and in many cases their preference in types of men."

"In two nights we have filled dates for 925 men. Those were for the dance one night and the boat ride on the Potomac the next night. And the only complaints we have had are that some girls were too tall or too short, too chunky or too thin. Maybe it's strange, but we have not had a complaint yet from any girl. Guess that speaks pretty well for the Jaycees, doesn't it?"

Few Complaints

WELL, that's the story and in the midst of war and world confusion, some sort of conclusions should be drawn about the American way of life.

I sat in the Junior Chamber convention's "date bureau" in the Mayflower for a couple of hours and listened to the applicants and complainants. The latter were very few, the former very numerous in spite of the fact that more than 900 already had been dated up for two big social events.

Here's one from Mobile, Ala., that was typical: "Boy, that little girl you fixed me up with last night was sure a lamb. Boy, was she sweet. How about doing as well by me tonight?"

"If she was that all right, why didn't you get another date with her tonight?"

"Look here, man. I can't go taking chances like that. Two dates with a girl like that and I'd be getting serious. No sir, man, get me another date tonight and if she ain't as swell as that babe last night, I'll be all right with me. Whew! I can't take chances like that every night."

Ohio Anecdotes

Great Bear Hunt

WOLVES, bears and deer roamed the Franklin county terrain in 1816 in such quantities that on Oct. 23 a bear hunt was held with 700 men taking part.

The hunt started at Worthington and followed newspaper reports that "for the past few weeks the bears, wolves, deer and turkeys have been uncommonly numerous in this vicinity."

Grand marshal for the affair was Col. James Kilbourne. The hunters formed a square 40 miles in circumference at Phelps Station, the headquarters. The grand marshal gave three blasts of the horn as a signal for the lines to start marching toward the center. When the square was contracted to one mile, the killing began. An official communiqué of the hunters' results reported that two wolves, three bears, 33 deer and 117 turkeys were bagged.

HIS WORST MOMENT

Latin-American Support Assured

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

IT WILL be the United States' own fault if we allow ourselves to be propagandized into the notion that our Latin neighbor republics to our southward are otherwise than solidly alongside Uncle Sam in his western hemispherical policy in opposition to the spread of Nazism, Fascism, Communism or any other old world "ism" from Europe to the Americas, as a by-product of the pending war.

Oh, yes, doubtless there are a few little totalitarian groups in countries between the Rio Grande and Cape Horn. According to Congressman Martin Dies, we have several such organizations here in the United States. And Dies says they might be very troublesome in an emergency, but even he doesn't intimate that they ever will dominate our whole government.

Just so in Latin America. The southern totalitarian blocs evidently are an annoyance to them, but not dangerous. A curious feature of the situation is that these organizations, such as they are, get a large part of their nourishment from right here in the United States. The Yankee supposition is that it's fed to them, mainly by wireless, from Berlin and Rome.

How System Works. As a matter of fact, taking operations in Mexico as an example, the system works more like this:

In Mexico City is a Communist publication known as El Popular, which likes to print anti-Yankee stuff. Also in the Mexican capital is a German daily (issued in Spanish) called the Diario Aleman.

These two papers maintain in the United States a few correspondents each, whose mission is to send to their editors all the American news they can scare up, of a nature calculated to be offensive to Latin-American readers.

Illustratively, both periodicals have done their utmost to make it appear that Uncle Sam's present defense program is essentially anti-Latin-American in character. There's been considerable Yankee regular army activity just north of the Rio Grande of late. There's nothing to imply that it's the least bit hostile to Mexico, but the Diario Aleman insists that it is.

Lindbergh Statement. Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh in his last broadcast, will be recalled as having warned that it is imperative for the United States to strengthen our western hemispherical defense "in co-operation with Latin-America"—but with the suggestion that we "must have bases where we need them, regardless of who owns the territory involved."

This promptly was played up by El Popular and the Diario Aleman as forecasting landings of American marines on Latin soil, with no questions asked for the Latins themselves—as in the old days when we were disturbed and feared as the "colossus of the north" by our southern neighbors.

Today's Washington administration is on such excellent terms with the latter that propaganda of the Lindbergh class doesn't appear to have "taken" particularly. All the same, the colonel didn't express himself overdiplomatically.

Nevertheless, as good a judge as Josephus Daniels, our Mexican City ambassador, home on short leave, says we don't need to be a bit worried concerning the Mexicans' loyalty to our Pan-American policy.

Vargas of Brazil. President Vargas of Brazil did give Washington several anxious hours recently, but since then he's set himself fully right with the new world combination.

Elsewhere throughout Central, South and insular America the alignment appears to be everything that could be asked of it. It seems to be up to the United States not to allow this satisfactory relationship to be disturbed by propaganda stories of disaffection, here, there and elsewhere.

Herr Hitler didn't get himself very generally believed some days ago, when he announced, for publication, that he hadn't a thought of trying, ever, to inject his regime into any of the American countries, no matter how his old world campaign may eventuate. That is to say, the critics recalled that Hitler made a good many of these pledges in the past and failed to keep them.

Health and Diet

Some Pointers For Vacationers.

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

MY CRANKY old friend, Dr. Adrian Gibbs, has gone on his vacation. One of his patients asked him what would become of her while he was gone and he replied that she would probably get well.

He scorns the rugged individualist who boasts that he has had only two vacations in twenty years. He says he doesn't really have any vacation time because he never gets away from himself.

Vacations are entirely different from what they were when I was younger. Then the whole family packed up and left on a train. We went to a fishing lodge where the food was good and the water dependable. We got "acclimated" in a day or two—that meant really that elimination became normal.

Different Now. Vacations with the advent of the automobile adventure are cheaper and easier, and more frequent, which is a good thing, but they are more individualistic than they used to be—much more responsibility is in the hands of the vacationist.

The engineer and conductor of the train in the old days saw to it that we got there safely. Now the man at the wheel of the car has to assume that duty—so he should be carefully selected. And for himself he ought to learn to sit at the wheel properly so that he doesn't ruin his posture and spine in the effort.

And take a little leisure to smoke a cigarette after breakfast; it doesn't make a great deal of difference if you don't get to the next town exactly by 12:30; suppose you don't get there till 12:40. The town will be there just the same.

Every vacationist should have a typhoid vaccination before starting out on the tourist vacation. At least within ten years before. Drinking water is picked up here and there and carries a typhoid hazard. Most of our cases of typhoid today are found in wanderers.

Loaded for Trouble

Dr. Gibbs believes in medicine and antiseptics and bandages, and his medical kit was carried in a separate grip when he left on his vacation. It looked a little as if he were going to join an army at the front. I don't think you need to take as much as he does. But iodine, and sterilized gauze and bandages and adhesive are fundamental. And some salve for sunburn: any kind of salve will do—special sun tan salve is not very different from the others.

A bottle of calamine lotion is a good thing for insect bites and dermatitis venenata. Dermatitis venenata is the eruption on the skin from plants. Ivy poisoning is the worst, but there are several other kinds. Plant dermatitis always causes burning and itching. Simple remedies are the most effective. Clean the skin affected—with gasoline, and then soap and water, before putting on the calamine lotion.

But don't try to have a vacation without some misadventures. The reminiscences of "the time when" are half the fun. You're going away for "re-creation" you know.

WASHINGTON

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—The navy may not admit it, but the secret reason for suddenly mining the waters around the Panama Canal was the sighting of two submarines off the Pacific side of the canal.

They were sighted by an army aviator, who was not able to distinguish their nationality. Since no U. S. submarines were in that vicinity, the army and navy both were convinced they must be Japanese. Obviously it would be difficult for German submarines to get into Pacific waters.

Another factor which has our navy command worried was that last week, while part of the Japanese fleet left for French Indo-China, another part left for an unnamed destination off the Pacific.

That was one reason why the U. S. fleet suddenly was ordered from Hawaii to Panama. For it is suspected that the Japanese may be paying a visit to Chile, perhaps stopping en route at the Galapagos Islands, which the United States is now trying to lease for a naval base to protect the Panama Canal.

Another reason is the fear that Hitler, having secured part of the French fleet, might pool forces with the Italians (after the end of the British campaign) and make a foray into American Atlantic waters. With part of the Japanese fleet simultaneously in Chilean waters, the problem of defense would be difficult.

But with the U. S. fleet at Panama, it can get into either Atlantic or Pacific in a hurry.

Willkie's Hair

When baldish Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan was asked what he thought of Wendell Willkie as a candidate, he replied:

"Well, he has a million dollars worth of hair, which ought to mean about 12,000,000 women's votes. Therein and there only has he got it over me."

GOP Labor Plank

THE Republican labor plank as adopted was very different from the one originally written by the platform makers.

Their had said nothing about amending the National Labor Relations Act, except for a vague statement about the desirability of improving the Labor Board administration.

This soft-pedaling had been decided on as a "come-on" gesture to John L. Lewis, who had praised Herbert Hoover and blasted Roosevelt before the resolutions committee. The CIO is against revision of the Labor Act, and the inner master minds deemed it good strategy to make a friendly move toward Lewis.

But when certain big industrial contributors got wind of the proposed plank, they started the wires buzzing with irate protests. They insisted the platform make a specific declaration in favor of amendment of the law.

Alf Landon, whose pre-arranged prompting had led to Lewis' anti-Roosevelt barrage, resisted this pressure strongly. But the subcommittee handling the matter turned him down and the amendment plank was incorporated.

Hitler Tactics

UNITED STATES intelligence officers, who have been pretty accurate so far about most Nazi tactics, have reported that Hitler held up his attack on Britain largely because he was waiting for the Republican national convention to finish its business.

Apparently, he figured that the Republicans would try to hamstring Roosevelt by adopting a semi-isolationist platform plank, and by spreading as much doubt as possible throughout the country regarding Roosevelt's policy of aiding the Allies. Hitler's policy of always has been divide and rule.

The Fungi

(A FARMER'S DIARY)

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

IN OUR none too thickly wooded forest I noticed a tragedy. Not one so quick and sure as the woodman's ax, or the proverbial girdling of saplings bark, but upon a giant grand old hickory even from the bulging roots to the lofty spreading branches, all along the seams of brittle bark, colonies of soft smooth heads appeared—whitened umbels upon short thick stems.

I was sorry for the noble tree. This form of fungi is draining the sap so necessary for new buds, leaves and fruit. Already high up on slender branches shrunken silky buds, half opened, are blighted at the tips. Neighboring hickories are heavily loaded with dark green foliage.

Wherever these brown fungous heads, no larger than a penny, show through cracks of bark, the tree's lifeblood is ebbing. Like cancer, it destroys the vital natural cells and diverts the living tissues to promote its own growth. In time the tree breaks from its rugged anchorage and crashes in many pieces upon the soft woods floor.

Some days ago I scraped the fungi off the roots and six feet of the trunk. I thought perhaps if I destroyed the stems and heads they would not grow again. This morning, after rain, I found what seemed to be twice the number I had destroyed.

Like the scavengers of putrid flesh that sail so gracefully in circles above the rising stench, other fungi come in beautiful, symmetrical forms and reach deep into disintegrating tissue beneath the bark for a sumptuous livelihood upon what once has been.

When I explore a woods area, I come upon a fallen lifeless giant whose prostrate trunk at the base is more than half my height. I feel that something old and beautiful has passed away. I feel like removing my hat and bowing my head as if the soil on which I stand were holy ground.

"Life evermore is fed by death, in earth and sea and sky." Doubtless these same forms of fungi lived in geologic ages and for their livelihood choked out the strength of stronger and mightier giants of the ancient forest.

AVIATION NEWS— INCREASE QUOTA FOR CIVILIAN PILOT TRAINING

Richland NAA Gets Authority to Accept 10 More For Instruction Course.

By ROBERT E. ROGERS
Officials of the Richland county chapter of the National Aeronautical association Saturday received the "go" signal from the Civil Aeronautics Authority for training 10 new pilots under the government's civilian pilot training program.

Machinery was set in operation immediately for taking applications and the NAA, sponsors of the flying program here, hope to have the primary ground school classes organized and started within the next two weeks, Norman Kann, president of the chapter, said yesterday.

Applications are being taken at the municipal airport from youths between the ages of 18 and 26 years.

The chapter hopes to enlist enough students so that two classes can be conducted in ground school training. Nine boys and a girl will be selected on a competitive basis for flight scholarships that will entitle them to 35 hours of instruction—enough to obtain a private pilots license.

James R. Harrington, airport manager and the government's instructor here said revisions in the CAA's training policy now provides for complete financing of the student flyers.

The 10 students now being trained had to post $30 to cover the cost of physical examinations and for insurance.

The ground school course will include primary instruction in meteorology, CAA regulations, engines and aircraft and instruments. The CAA has announced an advanced flight training course for the students now being groomed for their wings which would give them instructions after they have been granted their licenses, but Mansfield students don't look forward to obtaining the training.

Major E. H. Jose, of Chicago, one of the CAA's head men was in Mansfield two weeks ago and after looking over the city's airport told Harrington that the government would not spend any funds here for advanced training of students unless improvements were made on the field.

He advocated levelling and lengthening of runways along with sodding and rolling. This work is included in a $40,000 proposal now being drafted by NYA. It has not yet been approved.

First of the CPT students to solo was Charles E. Hensch of Shelby who went aloft alone Saturday. Harrington said the youth

"The Four Apollos," showing here with the Dodson's World's Fair Shows, which opens here today, are aerialists, who have attained a fine reputation of presenting thrilling performances of aerial gyrations and gymnastics that is paramount in their profession. They will present acts all this week on the midway at the Armory Field, Ashland road and East Fourth street. The Mansfield Building Trades' Council is sponsoring the event.

Four or five other students are expected to go aloft alone for the first time this week. They would have made it yesterday but the rain kept them grounded.

Steel siding for the new hangar under construction at the port is scheduled to arrive today and Harrington says the sheeting should be put on before Sunday—providing it doesn't rain.

Completion of the hangar will furnish room for quartering 11 ships and eliminate the necessity of tying down airplanes that have to be left out of doors at night.

And with plenty of hangar space to be made available soon, Dr. L. B. Bonar and Tom Jones will bring their new plane to the field. They purchased a new Arconca several days ago but delivery was withheld until the new hangar is built.

New students enrolled for pilot instructions the past week were Robert Bigamy and Harold Garnsey.

Another Saint Picture.

When a sinister gang of race track crooks frames an innocent police inspector and murder a young man, action really ensues in "The Saint Takes Over," showing through Tuesday at the Madison. This is one of the popular series based on the exploits of Leslie Charteris's fictional hero, The Saint, and presents George Sanders in the title role with Wendy Barrie in the feminine lead. The co-attraction is "Irene," starring Anna Neagle and Ray Milland.

Sherwood Story Into Movie.

One of the more memorable romances ever written for the stage or screen, Robert E. Sherwood's "Waterloo Bridge" has been made into a timely and tender love story, starring Vivien Leigh and Robert Taylor at the Ohio. The story is that of a ballet dancer and an aristocratic young British officer who meet on historic Waterloo Bridge during an air raid and seek shelter in the underground there. In the fine supporting cast are Lucile Watson, Virginia Field, Maria Ouspenskaya and C. Aubrey Smith.

Former Stage Success.

Dorothy Brandon's great drama, "The Outsider," which will long be remembered by theater goers as the play that brought acclaim to Katharine Cornell when she played the role of the crippled girl, Lalange Sturdee, is now being presented at the Park theater. The role of Anton Ragatzky, the man who performs miraculous cures without benefit of a doctor's degree, has been given to George Sanders. As a co-feature there is "The Real Glory" which is a thrilling tale of the early Philippines with Gary Cooper in the leading role.

AFTERNOON SERVICE PERFORMED SUNDAY

Miss Ruth Lucille Snider Becomes Bride of Robert William Lyon At First Christian Church; Reception Held For 25.

THE June nuptial parade in Mansfield continued unabated right up through the final day of the month as a number of residents chose June 30th to exchange their nuptial vows. One of the formal ceremonies performed yesterday was an event at the First Christian church at 2:30 p. m. with Rev. B. F. Hagelbarger officiating, and Mrs. H. H. Clingan presiding at the organ.

Miss Ruth Lucille Snider, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Snider, 106 West Fifth street, became the bride of Robert William Lyon, 121 West Fourth street, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lyon, Caledonia, in this service.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in a white organza frock jacketed in white lace. The floor length gown was cut with a high waist and long full skirt. The jacket was made with a Peter Pan collar and long full sleeves. Miss Snider topped her costume with a virgin style veil falling to the fingertip length and attached to a coronet of orange blossoms and seed pearls. She carried an arm bouquet of white roses, gardenias and larkspur tied with lace ribbon.

A graduate of Mansfield Senior high school, Miss Snider has been employed in the office of the Tappan Stove company. Her husband attended the Martel (O.) high school, and is now employed at the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company.

The altar before which the vows were exchanged was decorated with palms and ferns in addition to two beauty baskets of Picardy gladioli and delphinium and two seven branch candelabra of lighted white tapers. The pews were marked with white satin ribbons. Mrs. Clingan played "I Love You Truly" during the ceremony. Her other selections were "Russian Romance" by Friml, "Be-casine" by D'Hardelot, "Ich Liebe Dich" by Grieg, "Oh Promise Me," "Liebestraum" by Liszt and "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life" by Herbert.

Attending the bride was Mrs. Howard Richards, matron of honor, and Miss Mildred Lyon, sister of the bridegroom from Caledonia, as bridesmaid. Mrs. Richards wore a peach silk net dress designed with short puffed sleeves and a sweetheart neckline. The entire skirt was covered with tiny satin bows. Miss Lyon's dress was cut after the same pattern and in the same material in a soft shade of blue.

They wore flower and ribbon arrangements in their hair to match their arm bouquets. Mrs. Richards carried pale blue delphinium, Talisman roses and shasta daisies tied with blue satin ribbon, and Miss Lyon carried pale blue delphinium, yellow roses and shasta daisies tied with peach satin ribbon.

Mr. Richards served as best man, and the bridegroom's two brothers, Bernard and Richard were ushers. Robert Portner, Mansfield, and Harlow Schumaker, Caledonia, were the other ushers.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Snider was attired in a navy and white chiffon costume with a corsage of red roses and feverfew. Mrs. Lyon wore a dusty rose lace dress with a corsage of red roses and blue delphinium.

Later in the afternoon 25 guests were entertained at a reception at the bride's home. The table was decorated with a centerpiece of white flowers including larkspur, gypsophila and roses, and lighted white candles in addition to the wedding cake. The small tables at which the guests were seated were similarly decorated.

Upon their return from a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Lyon will reside temporarily with the bride's parents.

Mildred Yarnell, Robert T. Wilson Exchange Vows

YESTERDAY at 8:30 a. m., Miss Mildred Lucille Yarnell approached the altar of the First Lutheran church where Dr. Grover E. Yarnell, 265 South Main street, formerly taught school here, and has recently been a teacher of the fourth grade at Wilmette, Ill. She makes her home here during the summer months with her parents.

For her marriage she wore a white jersey suit with petal blue accessories and a strand of pearls, the gift of the bridegroom. Her shoulder corsage was of swansonia and hybrid delphinium.

The altar was decorated with white gladioli in two beauty baskets and palms and ferns. Mrs. Clayton D. Bell presided at the organ playing "I Love You Truly" by Carrie Jacobs Bond, "For You Alone" and "Oh, Promise Me" by DeKoven.

Mrs. Yarnell attended her daughter's wedding wearing a navy blue sheer dress with white accessories, while the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Frank Wilson, Wilmette, was attired in a blue print frock with white accessories. Both wore gardenia corsages. Members of the families were guests following the ceremony at a wedding breakfast served at the Susie Janis home. Later in the day the couple left for a wedding trip through northern Michigan.

For traveling the bride wore her wedding suit with dusty rose accessories. They will make their home at 2024 Chestnut avenue, Wilmette, after July 15.

The former Miss Yarnell is a graduate of the Tucker School of Expression in Cleveland, and received her B. S. in education at Ashland college. Mr. Wilson attended Northwestern university, and is in business in Wilmette.

Informally Speaking...

July 1, 1940.

Lucy, dear:

HERE it is, the first of July already, and it seems that only yesterday—or at the most, the day before—we were beginning a new year. . . . This day is off to a bright and sunny start, and so I hope it will be an indication that the month will be fair—at least fairer than the last two—that really shouldn't be such a difficult assignment, eh, Lucy?

Ruth Whorl was in town Saturday on her way to the National Education association convention in Milwaukee. . . . I'm sure you remember Ruth, because she lived here about the same time you did, Lucy. . . . She's art director in the Akron public schools now, and following the convention, she'll return to Akron to teach at the university there during the summer session. . . . Early in August, however, she'll be back here to spend the remainder of the summer with her mother, Mrs. Thomas Whorl. . . . Incidentally, Ruth is participating in the program at the convention (which began today and lasts through Wednesday) today, and she will speak on "The Need for Art Skills and Design for High School Students."

Among the Mansfielders anticipating especially pleasant summers is Dorothy Kloss, who left this past week-end for the Jack and Jill camp near Ashland. . . . She will serve as a director at this camp, which is for boys and girls from 8 to 10 years old. . . . Dorothy, you know, is a student at Ohio university, and one of her friends from there, Betty Mahan of Youngstown, also will be a director at the camp. . . . Next year Dorothy will be a senior at the school, where she majors in hospital dietetics—and besides her studies, she's an active member in the Home Economics club, the Women's Athletic association and the Y. W. C. A.

THIS is indeed an important day for Naomi Stutz and Florence Robson as they're leaving for New York City. . . . There they'll join Lella Graeff (who's a teacher here at the Country Day school), and Naomi will stay for the summer, while Florence will return to her family home in Columbus after about a ten-days visit. . . . Naomi is serving as a secretary at Columbia university, and Lella is taking a course of study there, but both girls will return to Mansfield in time for the opening of school next September.

Atty. and Mrs. Van C. Cook, their daughter, Vangelene, and their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Cook, have just returned from a two-weeks vacation at Long Lake, about 16 miles north of Alpena, Mich. . . . They say the days were rainy there too, but that the fish were biting, so that made up for it. . . . By the way, Lucy, Vangelene is leaving here in about two weeks to take a new position with Halle Bros. company in Cleveland. Mrs. N. M. Wolfe and her granddaughter, Nancy Bond, have returned to this city following a visit with Mrs. G. W. Kenyon in Hollywood, Cal. since last Christmas.

MARTHA THOMPSON (girls' physical education teacher at John Simpson Junior high school) left this morning with Peg Haines and Frances Bergert of Alliance for a month's motor trip through Wisconsin. . . . Peg and Frances (who were Tri-Delta sorority sisters of Martha's at Mt. Union college) arrived yesterday, and the three-some will visit Lake Delton and the Wisconsin dells on their vacation. . . . Martha just concluded her teaching activities at the Y. W. C. A. daytime camp last Friday, and she'll resume her duties at the junior high again next fall.

For their first trip east, Mr. and Mrs. Winsfield Sypher and their son, Robert, of Tacoma, Wash. have been visiting with Mrs. Sypher's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Boyer, here. . . . The Syphers came here by train along the southern route, purchased a new car in Detroit, Mich. and are driving to the World fair before returning home along the northern route later in the summer. . . . And speaking of visitors, Mr. and Mrs. William Mosely had some house guests yesterday. . . . Dick Allison (a former resident of our town) and Mary Cunningham of Columbus drove up for the day.

MR. AND MRS. BEN RAWLS have gone to Robinsville, N. C. to visit with Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Tedrick—former Mansfielders. . . . They drove down on Friday, and today, Mr. Rawls went to Camp Knox, Ky., where he will be in training for two weeks (he's a reserve officer, first lieutenant). . . . Mrs. Rawls is spending this week with the Tedricks, and next week she will join her husband at Camp Knox.

In 1930, 25 members of Phi Delta Theta fraternity at Ohio State university made plans to meet again in ten years, and each one of them wrote prophesies for his brothers. So the reunion was held for the members and their wives Saturday at the Lake Shore hotel in Cleveland—and I here tell that it was more than funny when those ten-year-old forecasts were read. Lucy, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Esgar went up from here, and a former Mansfielder who now resides in Cleveland, Austin Corey, and his wife were there too.

Mr. and Mrs. John Chaitain (you probably recall that she was formerly Josephine Hennessy) are here for a visit from their home in Chicago, Ill. . . . And so, yesterday noon, Mrs. H. V. Hennessy gave a surprise birthday party for her husband and daughter, Josephine, whose birthdays are both events of this week.

I THINK you'd better not look for more than a postcard from me for the next two weeks, Lucy, because my vacation begins this Saturday. . . . I'll still enjoy hearing from you, so do write, and I'll tell you all about my trip when I return home. Lovingly,

Marianne

PLAN FUTURE. Mrs. Virgil Hartman, mother advisor of the newly organized Rainbow assembly, announced today plans for summer activities of the group. The Rainbows and the DeMolay, corresponding young men's Masonic order, will picnic July 8 at North Lake park. Then on July 10 the group will have initiation, while a regular meeting will be held July 31. Regular sessions will be resumed in August with the assembly meeting on the first and third Wednesdays of each month. Next Tuesday and Wednesday ten members will attend the Grand Assembly at Columbus with Mrs. William Keefe and Mrs. Hartman.

Mrs. I. M. Palmer, 324 West Fourth street, returned from South Bend, Ind. yesterday evening, where she was visiting with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Palmer.
